Built in 1963, the Thredbo Alpine Hotel holds many secrets and stories, one of our favourites is the Lounge Bar Fire.

Opening weekend, Saturday June 10th 2000, a few of our guests indulged in a handful of martinis late into the evening and took it upon themselves to keep the fireplace alight. Suddenly the fire grew beyond control, and a groomer on mountain saw smoke billowing from the chimney.

Staff were able to evacuate everyone and save the treasured artwork you can see around you.

These days, we have a gas fireplace, so please, you indulge and we'll take care of the fire.
